Talk Back

BY MARCIA BUTTERBAUGH #6560

As Jerry Trowbridge takes over the presidency of our club, we owe a big congratulations to Shar Kielack for her leadership during the past year. Shar was a very active, hands-on president and it was a pleasure to serve under her leadership. Jerry has a hard act to follow, but I'm sure he will serve the hobby well during 1995 and make our 25th year a milestone for the club.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

In the "letters to the editor" department, both Dennis Gordon #520 and Mike Bowler #25377 wrote in to tell us about the article on aluminum cans in the September issue of Scientific American. It's a great article on the evolution of the beer can, complete with a photo of the "easy-opening lid" introduction from 1961 that shows a generic can with "PULLTOP" as its only name!

From John Blackstock #29067:

As a new member, I have a few questions on some BCCA policies. I own and run a small business and have a Visa/Mastercard machine for customers. I can't see why the board would kill such an old idea. The Supply Shop would be more used with the card. The BCCA should at least try it, maybe on a trial run. Best result would be an increase in sales and happy members for the convenience. Worse result, no increase, so drop the card. Either way, the BCCA looks like a club responding to the membership.

In the Jun/Jul '94 issue there was a great story on sports cans. The top 20 toughest cans and their prices were informative. I also find the Auction Block to be a good reference for prices. But, as the magazine reports on prices, we members cannot mention prices in want ads. All this does is add time to a trade or sale and that time can kill a trade or sale. I don't think it would hurt the reputation of the BCCA to allow prices in the ads. If I can't trade a can, I will buy it. The ads are there for us. Let us use them in a way we see fit. (Ed. Note: - how about you members out there, what do you think about using VISA/MASTERCARD for supplies, membership dues and canvention registration? Or, what's your thoughts on prices in want ads? Write in and tell us.)

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

You'll see throughout this magazine, and on the front cover, the 25th logo to honor the 25th anniversary of the BCCA. The BCCA will be celebrating their silver anniversary all year long, and starting with the December issue of this magazine, we'll have historical information covering those 25 years. Headed up by Alan Paschedag and the Jersey Shore chapter, you can look forward to some interesting reading about our hobby and its history.

The BCCA has produced a Silver Anniverary banner that will be made available to chapters during 1995 to display at chapter shows. If you would like to have the banner for your own show, write Alan Paschedag for details on how to obtain the banner #21104.

ABOUT THE COVER

The Tube City brand was named for the steel industry in McKeesport, PA. The cover design and photography was done by Lew Cady and features the Tube City quart cone. For the photo, Jack McDougall #12357, provided the background of pipe fitting materials representing the steel industry which influenced the name of the Mckeesport beer.

Happy collecting!

"Best Beer in Town"

Tube City
McKeesport's Home Town Brewery

Being a teenage collector in the mid 1900s, I was thrilled to have a defunct brewery in my hometown, McKeesport, Pennsylvania. During several clandestine trips through the unoccupied building, I acquired cone top cans, signs, labels and other breweriana. When my trading stock got low, I would simply return to the well.

While scanning the McKeesport Daily News in the summer of 1978, I encountered a headline that indicated the well was about to run dry: "Tube City Brewery Faces Demolition."

I panicked, regained my composure well enough to drive, and set out for the brewery at 207 Market Street. First sight of the building confirmed my worst fears. A wrecking ball was slamming into the side of an exterior wall. A crane moved debris while work crews sorted and stacked used bricks for sale.

About fifteen Tube City Beer crates were saved on the last day the brewery was standing.

Time was running out. I asked a foreman permission to enter and search for artifacts one last time. "No way, " he responded. Twenty dollars and considerable pleading changed "no way" to "You're on your own kid. I don't even know you're in there!"

I entered and quickly went to a belfry four stories above ground level. I hadn't searched it previously and hoped to find a breweriana cache. The room was cluttered with empty Tube City wooden crates which made an ideal nesting area for a huge pigeon population. No time to look elsewhere, I began throwing hundreds of crates to the ground as pigeons scattered. About fifteen crates survived the fall before the walls around me began to move with the blow of the wrecking ball. I had to flee. Six hours later the brewery smoke stack crumbled and destroyed the remaining buildings.

The end had come for this regional brewery founded in 1906 and named for steel tube manufacturing -- McKeesport's main industry.

Located fifteen miles south of Pittsburgh's Iron City, the company prospered selling White Label Beer until prohibition hit in 1919. A quick shift to "near beer" kept the plant operating. Because real beer had to be brewed in order to produce alcohol free near beer, the plant's interior was a favorite meeting site for area organizations during prohibition years. Eventually poor sales forced complete closure in 1927.

Tube City cardboard sign for Bock Beer.

After repeal in 1933, the company flourished again distributing the Tube City brand locally and as far away as Indiana, West Virginia and Florida. The company survived rationing during World War II, but succumbed to competitors from national brands in 1955. On October 6, the doors were closed and a thousand remaining barrels of beer were dumped into the city sewer system.

The sides of this 12oz cone top can bear the inscriptions, "The finest beer we have ever brewed" and "The best of all." Although not as rare as the quart cone, the can is valued at about $150

This sign is one of a relatively few point-of-sale advertising pieces around. I'm also aware of a porcelain sign, and I once met a neon maker who made a handful of Tube City neons in a small shop just blocks from the brewery.

The Eastern Brewing Co. of Hammonton, New Jersey, revived the brand briefly in 1963 and distributed it in bottles in the McKeesport area. Unfortunately, Tube City was an idea whose time had passed.

Believed to be Tube City's only tray, it is designed in a similar format to the IRTP Tube City Pilsener bottle label.

This pipe was produced well after the brewery closed and is not an original advertising piece.

The brewery was used as a Pabst distributorship for several years before it was left to pigeons, scavengers, collectors and eventually the wrecking ball.

This silver tap knob with enameled insert for Tube City Beer is a one-of-a kind from pre-1940.

Throughout it's life, Tube City used several different slogans to promote their beer. The original "The Best Beer in Town" was discontinued after the Duquesne Brewery, whose slogan was "The Finest Beer in Town," asked Tube

FEST BEER

In the Fall of each year many breweries will introduce a "fest" beer. These beers usually have names like "Oktoberfest," "Harvestfest" or Autumnfest." The majority of these beers are Vienna (Wiener) styles which traces its origin to Vienna, Austria. Vienna styles include Marzen, Oktoberfest and Wiener beers. These beers are all produced with lager yeast and noble hops such as Hallertauer.

Anton Dreher, of Vienna, was the trailblazer of this beer style. Dreher pioneered the use of mechanical refrigeration to produce Vienna beers year 'round. One similar Vienna style was developed just prior to mechanical refrigeration. Marzen (Marz is German for march) was brewed in the spring. Then the beer was stored underground in caverns during the hot summer months. When autumn came, the beer was brought out of the caves and sold. The long ageing produced a truly unique mellowness in this beer. These beers are generally copper in color and tend to be rich in body with a bold malt flavor and a subtle hop flavor.

Another classic beer is the Munchener style, obviously originating in Munich. It is divided into three categories. The first two, Helles, which translates to mean light and Dunkel which translates to mean dark, refer to the color of the beers. (Helles does not mean light as in low-calorie!) Munich-Dunkels are deep copper to dark brown in color. They have a very nice balance between the sweetness of the malt, the chocolate flavor of the roasted malt and the bitterness of the hops. The Helles variety is pale to golden in color and the body is medium with a nice sweetness from the malt. The hop flavor is subtle, yet adds a nice aroma to this style.

The third variety is the Schwarzbier. Schwarz translates to mean black. This style is dark like a stout. The sweetness is subtle with a nice caramel flavor from the dark roasted malt. The hops add a mild bitterness and a pleasant aroma. A stout is drier, much more bitter and coffeelike.

I will go into much more detail on stouts and porters in my next installment.

President's Message

BY JERRY TROWBRIDGE #24070

My first comments as your incoming president is to thank Shar Kielack for the super job she's done during the past year. She has had to handle some difficult situations and did an excellent job for our club. Shar and Don traveled many miles representing our BCCA during the past year. Thank you, Shar!

For only the second time in eleven years, we are raising the BCCA membership dues. Your Board of Directors and Finance Committee have tried every possible means to delay an increase. The raise is only $3 per year (25¢ per month) to belong to the biggest, the best, and the most progressive club our hobby has today. Certainly anyone who is active enough to belong to the BCCA will understand, and hopefully, it will be several years before dues will go up again.

The 25th Anniversary Committee is up and running with Alan Paschedag #21104 as committee chairman. You will be seeing our silver anniversary logo and "Celebrating our 25th Year" slogan many times during 1995 as we plan to celebrate this milestone all year long. It will culminate with the 25th Canvention, Sept. 7-10, 1995 at the Regal Riverfront Hotel in St. Louis. This should be one of our greatest canventions -- because St. Louis is centrally located and it's our 25th anniversary, and because we have a St. Louis Canvention committee made up of many BCCA veterans including several past presidents. I hope all of you will make plans to attend. If you have never attended a national Canvention, or haven't been to one for a while, this is the one to attend! My goal for attendance is "Think A Thousand" and I don't feel this is out of the realm of possibility.

Sue and I plan to attend as many shows this coming year as time and funds allow, including several new shows we have never attended. If you think you have a good show and would like to have us attend, send me a letter or call me. I will certainly consider all shows.

Remember, the hobby is on the upswing and we need an active commitment from our chapters. Let's all support the BCCA in every way we can.

City to drop it, because the statements were too similar. Other slogans such as, "The finest beer we have ever brewed," "The best of All" and "It's the Tops" were used over the years by Tube City. Finally, in 1951, as an attempt to diversify and sell more beer, "Cream of Beer" was used on a 12oz. paper bottle label, as well as on a 7oz. painted label bottle.

Special thanks to Will Hartlep, Gene DiCicco and Ernie Oest for contributions to this article.

The Labels of Tube City

The last ditch effort by Tube City to increase sales before closing in 1955.

Tube City Premium (Eastern), Hammonton NJ. The brand was revived briefly in 1963 in two versions.

Found in the brewery, the story behind this non-IRTP label remains a mystery.

"Wurtzburger Style" expresses the German traditions of the brewery's founders on this IRTP label.

This non-IRTP label's name might have been an appeal to area AFL CIO steel workers!

A NEAT IDEA TO SELL MORE TABLES AT YOUR NEXT TRADE SESSION

Admission was free to the show and tables were $10 each. Those choosing tables were also eligible for the neon sign door prize - a nice gesture!

ANOTHER IDEA TO SELL MORE TABLES

News Flash - Table rebates available to full registrants at the Midwest Breweriana Convention. Those full registrants will receive $5 in Brew Bucks for every $11 table taken at the show. Brew Bucks may be spent like cash with any other collector or dealer during the Room to Room trading or at the Saturday Trade Show. Brew Buck sales can redeem the Brew Bucks for cash at the convention registration desk.

TURN A BORING RAFFLE INTO A PROFITABLE RAFFLE

Nothing can kill a show faster than a boring raffle. Since we had a special prize, a Bears Helmet neon, we tried a "special raffle." For every $5 worth of regular raffle tickets purchased, a free ticket for the Helmet neon drawing was given. Lucky Sheldon Meshberg won the neon! We will be doing this again in the future whenever we have a special prize.

Miller Brewing Co. thought its offer of $1 million to help build a new minor league ballpark in San Antonio sounded great. The city council found it less filling, 'er "thrilling."

The catch: Miller wanted to name the new ballpark Miller Lite Stadium. Hundreds of residents called or sent letters to protest the idea and council members voted 10-1 to complete construction of the $10-million stadium without the offer, and instead borrow more money!

A Raccoon Lodge member walks into a bar, orders three beers, sits down at a table and drinks each beer, one at a time. When he finishes all three, he goes back to the bar and orders three more. The puzzled bartender says, "you know, the beer will stay colder if you order one at a time." The Raccoon replies, "Well, you see, I have two Raccoon Lodge Brothers whose jobs have taken them out of the country. The night they left, we all vowed to drink this way to remember the days when we all three drank together." The bartender admits this is a nice custom and leaves it at that.

The Raccoon becomes a regular in the bar and always drinks his beers three at a time. One day, he comes in and orders only two beers. All the regulars notice and fall silent. When he comes back to the bar for his second round, the bartender says, "I don't want to intrude on your grief, but I want to offer my condolences on your great loss." The Raccoon looks confused for a moment, then begins to laugh. "Oh no," he says, "everyone is fine. I've just quit drinking."

Big Bubba's rule: Beer bellies are bigger in Texas and the rest of the southern United States where the nation's heaviest beer drinkers consume more than 1.5 billion gallons a year! The lightest beer drinkers are in the west (870 million gallons) according to a report in GQ Magazine. Each year Americans drink: 3.44 billion gallons at home; 93 million gallons at sporting events; 2.48 billion gallons in the evening and 340 million gallons at the dinner table.

THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS!

And finally, has Coors seen the future of the brewing industry? I was drinking Winterfest over Christmas, and now I'm drinking Eisbock, a very light, but tasty bock they brewed for spring. According to a flyer from my favorite liquor store, they will also brew a wheat beer for summer and an Octoberfest in the fall. They may be one of the big boys, but at least they recognize there are some people who enjoy flavor in beer, not just the same thing year in and year out!

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO REAL BEER?

Here's a handy rule of thumb for separating the major brewers from the micros: the little guys don't want to make ice beer. At the U.S. Beer and Food Fest in New York, the two dozen microbrewers attending fell into two groups — those who politely reject the concept, and those who do so with a sneer. "We're thinking of brewing a dry ice, actually," said Peter Breslow of Philadelphia's Dock Street Brewery. "You don't even have to drink it; just hold it up to your nose."

A 6-PACK OF DINNER PLATES PLEASE!

Q: My fiancee is a beer-can collector. I am just getting interested in collecting pottery. Someone told me to buy Coors pottery, the dishes made by the famous beer company. Did the brewery really make dishes?

A: Adolph Coors founded the brewery in 1873. He kept expanding his business interests and soon started the Colorado Glass Works. It closed in 1888. Then in 1910, J.J. Herold used the building for the Herold China & Pottery Co., (which at the time was called the Golden Pottery). They made fireproof china, cooking utensils, spark plugs and scientific equipment. The company name was changed to Coors Porcelain Company in 1920. The name was in honor of Alfred Coors, not Coors beer. Home dinnerware was made after 1932 and the most popular pattern of dishes was Rosebud, marked "Coors, Rosebud, U.S.A." It was made from 1934 to 1942, when the dinnerware production stopped. After the war, mugs, teapots, vases and a few other serving pieces were made. Coors Porcelain Company is still in business making chemical ware for laboratories, plumbing valves and other porcelain parts. A 1930s Rosebud dinner plate sells for about $10 to $15.

AND DON'T FORGET, P.B.R. ME A.S.A.P.

In its 150-year history, the Pabst Brewing Company has used many slogans. Notable among them is "Milwaukee Beer is Famous - Pabst Has Made It So" which was first used in 1891. In the fall of 1946, Pabst introduced "Thirty-Three Fine Brews Blended Into One Great Beer" which later was shortened to "Thirty-Three to One." Sometime later, "...Finest beer served anywhere" and "Satisfy Your Thirst for Better Beer" became Pabst slogans. There will probably never be another slogan that captures America's fancy quite so wholeheartedly as "What'll You Have?" and Pabst believes firmly that there can never be another answer but "Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer" of course!

Update on Pabst Rosebowl can: I found a dealer who is selling them for $150 per can. He will give a $50 discount if you buy a 6-pack!

EVEN SPELUNKERS ARE CAN COLLECTORS

I think the highlight of my move to Chicago has been meeting the Lewandowski twins, Mike and Dave. These guys are a real pair. They have a combined collection of probably 8000 cans, all stacked on a maze of shelving in the crawl space under their mom's kitchen! Viewing this monstrosity is almost as much fun as crawling through a drainage ditch, only you get to look at beer cans while you're doing it!

THE OLYMPIC BEER DRINKING TEAM

Some events and the beers that would go well with them:

Shot Put - Rolling Rock
Equestrian Events - Red Cap Ale
Weight Lifting - Iron City
Wrestling - Matt's
Pole Vault - Cloud Nine
Fencing - Gilt Edge
Swimming Relays - Hudepohl (as in Joe Hudepohl, Gold Medal Winner)
Marathon - Pace
Canoeing - Cold Spring

and of course, the "Dream Team" drinks Blitz-Weinhard; the Boxing Team drinks Duke, and every U.S. athlete drinks A-1!

BETTER HAVE A HEALTHY TREASURY!

The Jersey Shore Chapter sure has an interesting raffle prize concept — if your name is drawn, you can win either $200 or your weight in beer. If we did that, we'd have to do weigh-ins before the big barbeque, or the chapter would go broke!

FAMOUS NAMES IN THE BCCA!

There are two O-Keefe's in the BCCA roster, but no Carlings, although there's a Redcap and even a Sleeman. Sports fans will recognize Glenn Anderson, George Bell, Clyde Gray, Jim Kelly, Frank Robinson and Dave Thelen. For music buffs, we give you Keith Richards, James Taylor and Brian Wilson. There's even a Teegarden, but no Van Winkle. TV fans will recognize Richard Anderson, Mark Dailey (everywhere), Richard Simmons and Brian Williams. There's a John F. Kennedy and two Bill Davis's, but thankfully, no Bob Rae's. Superman may even be surprised to see Perry White in the BCCA's ranks.

18 Holes of Golf

We've gone back to the 1970s trying to collect the whole new 18-can set of Michelob golf cans. Crowds have been forming in corners at local shows as collectors walk in with a couple of 18-packs bought on the way to the show. People rush over with their want lists, the full cans are spread out and sorted, and the trading starts hot and heavy. Not just sports can collectors, but every collector seems interested in at least getting one example of each hole for their collection.

The 18-can set of golf holes are issued by Michelob, Michelob Light and Michelob Dry, each featuring 18 of the toughest golf holes from courses around the country. If you collect all three sets, there's a total of 54 cans to find. And that's tricky because there are multiple mentions of golf courses featuring different holes -- Hole #17 & Hole #18 at TPC at Sawgrass; and then there are multiple hole numbers -- Hole #17 Harbour Town Golf Links; and Kingsmill 17th Hole.

The cans are very colorful, show the layout of the hole with a brief description of the fairway and green, and feature a "hole" new can design for Michelob!

Bob Kay's Label Auction

Bob Kay's latest Beer Label Auction offered a nice mix with something for just about everyone. The Pawnee Dark Beer from Columbus Brewing Co, of Columbus NE, featured an Indian chief in full head dress, circa 1933, brought $30. Shabbona Brew, a prepro label from Ottawa Brewing Assn, Ottawa IL, another attractive Indian label, sold for $88. The St. Claire Bock label, a rare California label featuring a goat, sold for $65. Moehn's Pilsener Beer*, Western Brewery of Burlington IA (in business from 1892 to 1915), represented the lithography style popular at the turn of the century, and brought $76 in the auction. The prepro* Bavarian label from Kessler Brewing Co, Helena MT sold for $37. The Royal Palm label from Jax Brewing Co, Jacksonville FL, circa 1933-36, featured a colorful south seas design. It brought $31.

Around 1896 many breweries issued die cut labels. The series of Anheuser-Busch die cuts from that period are quite rare and in serious demand. Two were offered in Bob Kay's auction. The Old Burgundy from the Anheuser-Busch Brew. Assn, sold for $120, and the Pale Export Beer label from the American Brewing Co, of St. Louis, sold for $46.

There are several nice things about collecting beer labels. They don't take up much space, they are attractive and colorful, and they document the history of the brewing industry. Bob Kay's catalog, titled "Beer Labels," has two parts; The Collectors Corner contains news and tips on label collecting, such as clues for dating labels, and display techniques. The Auction section provides the listings of the auction lots. The catalog is issued every June and December.

Brand Changes

BY WARREN HARDAKER #696

Among this month's contributors we find the following people: Ed Ackerman #1151, Pete Johnson #15082, Roger Bauer #18803, John Bell #27807, Bill Grissom #12476, Cam Roos #27529, Oscar Mehl #2573, Lew Burritt #24827, John Green #28444, Jay Herbein #353, Hall Baker #555, Bjarne Nilssen #15980, Rob Harder #1133, Floyd Koehler #18820, Dennis McCormick #21393, and me—Warren Hardaker #696.

In the corrections column, we have had two Narragansett cans listed in Lehigh Valley with the same numbers: a 12oz can and a 16oz can both have the number 14103. Leave it on the 12oz and change the 16oz to 14104. Those appeared in the 5/93 and 9/93 issues.

AMERICAN (Made in USA) (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Like the can shown last month (July/Aug 94), this can is for export to Russia. Side panel reads "Imported by Karlov International....Volga." (GW=0) (DE 200) (AM-NA) S0002 NOTE: Added information for the can listed last month S0001 (GW=0) (BV 331) (AM-NA) All of this was "unknown."

BLACK & TAN ENGLISH STYLE DARK BEER (Yuengling/Pottsville, PA) Side panel now mentions that the company has been brewing beer for 165 years. This is a 16oz can with usual design. (GW=3) (Ball) 2502S

BLATZ LIGHT (Heileman/La Crosse, WI) Minor change (see Aug 92) because this can has a top used for export to Argentina, as will several others in this issue. The design and colors remain the same, as do the Calories at 98, and the Heileman number QF931. (GW=10) (QF 931) (AM-NA) 2256S

1. BULL ICE BREWED MALT LIQUOR (Stroh/Detroit, MI) A couple of changes in this 16oz brand. First, the silver bands top and bottom have been removed and now the black portion covers the whole can. Added below "oz" is "(473 ml)" and the words "1 pint" above the "7.7% ALC/VOL." (GW=4) (AM-NA) 2701S

2. COORS LIGHT BEER (Coors/Golden, CO) A 16oz special issue for the "Thrift Drug Classic" bicycle race in Pittsburgh. The reverse panel uses silver, green, white, red, and blue. The bottom third shows a couple of racers and the word "Classic" located in a green box, along with the date of "May 22, 1994" shown below. (GW=4) (None Shown) 3591S

3. COORS LIGHT BEER (Coors/Golden, CO) Another 16oz special issue for a bicycle race, or actually a series of races, the "Core States Championship" which was held in Lancaster, Trenton, and Philadelphia during May and June. Like some of the other cans as of late, no states are mentioned, so I guess they assume you know where the towns are located. The reverse has a red bicycle racer leaning into a turn (I assume), superimposed over the "Core States Championship" logo. Blue, white, red, and silver are used in the design. (GW=4) (None Shown) 3592S

4. COORS LIGHT BEER (Coors/Golden, CO) A 16oz special issue for the "Pittsburgh Penguins 1993 - 1994" season. The bottom line reads "Cold Silver on Ice" on this red, yellow, blue, white, and silver can. (GW-4) (None Shown) 3593S

COORS ORIGINAL PREMIUM BEER (Coors/Golden, CO) Return to the days of yesteryear, as the newly designed can now has the red ribbon above the waterfall logo. This time it reads "Original Est. 1893," and the printing below the logo is much smaller and on 2 lines. The side panel now "talks about the water...". (GW=5) (None Shown) 3800S [Ed. note: Seems like there are several different cans with different side panels.]

6. COORS CUTTER COLD LAGERED N.A. (Coors/Golden, CO) A new redesigned can for this label. Now using a mountain scene and the colors gold, silver, white, and black. The words "Cold Lager" appear on a ribbon just below "Cutter," and "Non Alc. Malt Beverage....." now is located in very small print at the bottom. (GW=0) (None Shown) S3910

7. DREWRYS LIGHT (Evansville, Evansville, IN) The last can I show using Drewrys Light was the "Light 'N Dry" issue, so this is a new entry. This red, white, blue, gold, and silver can has the old Mountie in the shield logo above the brand name. (GW=5) (Ball) 4140S

DRUMMOND BROS PREFERRED BEER (Evansville/Evansville, IN) Standard can with export information printed on the lid. Although it is to be sold in Argentina, it still has the "Keep America Beautiful" slogan around the spinneck. (GW=6) (3-Ball) 4303S

FIRST CHOICE (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Like the can shown in the March 93 issue, but this can will be exported to the Orient. Chinese or Korean writing located between labels on both sides. The wording for "First Choice..." does not appear, just "Pittsburgh Brewing Company." (GW=0) (UG 390) (AM-NA) S6501

8. GENESEE BEER (Genesee/Rochester, NY) This is the first of what I understand is going to be a set of several 16oz cans. Standard front design, but the back is "Bass Fishing in Pennsylvania" on a full face panel. This describes "Where to and How to Fish" in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Colors used are gold, blue, red, and white. (GW=4) (Ball) 7005S

9. GENESEE BEER (Genesee/Rochester, NY) Another can in the fishing series, this one is "Pike Fishing in Pennsylvania." Same colors and design as the one above, although the background panel is red on this can. (GW=4) (Ball) 7006S

10. GENESEE BEER (Genesee/Rochester, NY) This can uses a blue background panel and is for "Trout Fishing in Pennsylvania." (GW=4) (Ball) 7007S

HUBER PREMIUM BEER (Huber/Monroe, WI) This old brand was last seen in 1982 according to the ABC Book. We had shown the "Bock" in the March '93 issue, and now the first time for the regular brand. The design and colors are the same as the older cans shown in the ABC book. (GW=4) (Crown) 8775S

11. ICE DRAFT LIGHT (BY BUDWEISER) (Anheuser-Busch/St. Louis, MO) Now out with a "light" version of this brand, and still using the fluted design can. Colors are silver, black, blue, and white, with the government warning printed on a white panel. (GW=4) (AM-NA 661204) 9525S

ICE DRAFT LIGHT (BY BUDWEISER) (Anheuser-Busch/St. Louis, MO) Same can as above with different canner. (GW=4) (CM 661204) 9526S

ICEHOUSE BEER (Plank Road-Miller/Milwaukee, WI) Here is the 16oz version of the can shown last month. Same style, colors and design, just a little larger. (GW=6) (None Shown) 9201S

I.C. ICE (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) The June 94 issue showed the 12oz I.C. Ice brand; now we have the same design in a 16oz can. Makes one assume that the "ICED" brands must be selling well, as they keep putting them out and in all sizes. (GW=4) (DF 030) (AM-NA) 9276S

12. IRON CITY BEER (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) The start of a 6-can Pittsburgh brewing company set honoring "Pittsburgh's Greatest All*Stars" baseball players. The first is on the Iron City Beer label for "Bill Mazeroski - A seven time N.L. All-Star." Like most of this type of can, it shows the player and gives information on that player. This is can #1 in a series of 6. Standard colors on this 12oz version. (GW=7) (bp) 9034S

IRON CITY BEER (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Can #2 of the above series is the "Mazeroski" 16oz version. (GW=5) (DE 980) (AM-NA) 9035S

13. IRON CITY BEER (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Can #5 (a 12oz can) of the "All*Star" covers " 'Pops' Willie Stargell." He was the Bucs all-time homerun, RBI, and extra base hit king. (GW=7) (bp) 9036S

IRON CITY BEER (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Can #6 of the "All* Star" series is also for "Willie Stargell." This is of course the 16oz version. (GW=5) (DF 120) (AM-NA) 9037S

IRON CITY BEER (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Standard double-sided regular issue. This can is aluminum, and the only difference from the steel can issued in May is that this can has a silver UPC. (GW=7) (bp) 9038S

14. IRON CITY BEER (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) This is the steel version of the can listed above. It has a black UPC code, and is just the standard regular 2-sided issue. (GW=7) (bp) 9039S

15. IRON CITY BEER (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Another of the standard double sided designs which has never been shown. Like some of the others the single side has been shown with a special issue but never as a regular issue. This is the 16oz issue. (GW=5) (BV 423) (AM-NA) 9040S

16. I.C. LIGHT (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) A set of cans issued for the Penquins labeled "Go Pens...Bring Back the Cup." The logo of the Penquins is shown on a black background with yellow, white, and gold in the design. This is the 12oz version; the "Go Pens" plus the logo also appear on the front above the brand name. (GW=10) (DE 010) (AM-NA) 9312A

I.C. LIGHT (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) The 16oz version of the can listed above. (GW=10) (DE 020) (AM-NA) 9313A

17. I.C. LIGHT (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) The 3rd can of the "All *Stars" set shown with the Iron City brand. Can #3 is the 12oz "Roberto Clemente—A 12 Time All-Star." (GW=10) (DF 010) (AM-NA) 9314S

I.C. LIGHT (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Can #4 of the "All*Stars" set is a l6oz "Clemente" version. (GW=10) (AM-NA) 9315S

18. I.C. LIGHT (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) This is the standard double-sided label. I guess it has never been shown by itself, but only as the front of one of the one-sided cans. Standard colors and design. (GW=10) (QF 897) [ED Note: Sort of an unusual number assigned.] (AM-NA) 9316S

19. I.C. PREMIUM LAGER (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Yet another Russian Penguins can, this time the wording of "1993-1994 Inaugural Season" and "Saluting..." are missing. This can was also exported to Russia and has no government warning. (GW=0) (DE260) (AM-NA) S9402

20. JAX LIGHT (General/Tumwater, WA) Another new brand and entry to the government warning listing. This silver can also used red, white, black, and gold in the design. Only one brewing location is shown, and it has no zip code. (GW=6) (AM-NA) 10100S

21. LITE (A FINE PILSNER) (Miller/Milwaukee, WI) The 16oz can was put out before the change to the new design. This is for the "Mardi Gras 1994" and also has "Krewe of Miller Brew" in the design. The standard colors of red, gold, blue, and white were used. (GW=3) (None Shown) 12033S

LITE (THE GREAT TASTING....) (Miller/Milwaukee, WI) The 3rd size of the new design, this time in a 16oz can. (GW=3) (None Shown) 12102S

22. LITE (THE GREAT TASTING....) (Miller/Milwaukee, WI) Another new special issue 16oz can. This one was found in McAllen, TX and was put out for "Y Tejano Music" or Lite & Texan music I was told. Again the standard Miller colors are used, and the design (new version) sports a map of Texas and an accordian with musical symbols. (GW=3) (None Shown) 12103S

LITE ICE BEER (Miller/Milwaukee, WI) We now have the 12oz "Beer" can without any "Alc/Vol" shown in the black diamond. Other than that, I believe that nothing else has changed. (GW=4) (None Shown) 12327S

23. MAGNUM 12 MALT LIQUOR (Miller/Milwaukee, WI) A design change and somewhat of a name change with the addition of the numbers "12" or "16" on the cans. Colors are sort of a dark plum, black, red, and gold. (GW=4) (None shown) 13010S [Ed Note: A small "Miller" now appears on both side panels—I don't know if they might be making their own cans at this time.]

25. MILLER GENUINE DRAFT (Miller/Milwaukee, WI) Here is a special issue 16oz can for the "Philadelphia Flyers" for the "1993-1994 Season." Standard colors and design. (GW-5) (None Shown) 13524S

26. MILLER GENUINE DRAFT (Miller/Milwaukee, WI) Another 16oz special issue, this time showing the "Miller Genuine Draft/Mobil 1" Thunderbird NASCAR. Standard colors and design. (GW=5) (None Shown) 13525S

MILWAUKEE 1851 (Heileman/La Crosse, WI) Another of the Heileman cans which sports a lid for export to Argentina. As before the design, colors, and numbers remain the same. (GW=8) (QF491) (AM-NA) S13342

27. MILWAUKEE'S BEST LIGHT (Miller/Milwaukee, WI) The 16oz version with the new "Miller Logo" above the word "Light." (GW=11) (None shown) 13858S

MUSTANG MALT LIQUOR (Pittsburgh/Pittsburgh, PA) Like the can shown in the Nov/Dec 93 issue, but this time made for export to Russia. Note that the bottom line reads "473ML 5.5% ALC./VOL." No government warning appears on the can, but the Pittsburgh/Heileman type number does appear (DE 210). Standard design and colors, although import information does appear between the two labels. (GW=0) (DE 210) (AM-NA) S13801

OLD GERMAN PREMIUM LAGER BEER (Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, PA) Here is another of the 16oz cans being exported to Argentina. Side panel lists "Buenos Aires," and of course no GW appears. (GW=0) (DC 830) (AM-NA) S15004

28. OLD MILWAUKEE FINE PREMIUM BEER (Stroh/Detroit, MI) Here is a 10oz version of the brand, but note that the word "Lager" does not appear in the oval. (GW-4) (AM-NA) 15191S

29. OLD MILWAUKEE FINE PREMIUM BEER (Stroh/Detroit, MI) Like the can listed above (without Lager) this 14 oz can was found in Mississippi. It has been quite a while since a 14oz can has even been shown in the column, as best as I can recollect. (GW=3) (AM-NA) 15192S

30. OLD MILWAUKEE FINE PREMIUM LIGHT BEER (Stroh/Detroit, MI) A second 14oz can was also found with the can shown above. The only difference other than the brand is that the canner was Schlitz rather than American National. The number of calories listed this time was 110. (GW=3) (Schlitz) 15255S

OLD STYLE LIGHT BEER (Heileman/La Crosse, WI) Like the 16oz can shown in the Sept 93 issue, this is the "Light" beer version. Again it salutes "Wrigley Field" and the "Ivy." Standard colors and design, although a different Heileman number. (GW=4) (QJ560) (AM-NA) 14978S

31. PABST BLUE RIBBON BEER (Pabst/Lehigh Valley, PA) This can lists 3 cities and now has a ribbon at the bottom with the "1844-1994" shown. Also the bottom 3 lines start "Over 150 years....and flavor." (GW=6) (AM-NA) 16003S

32. PIG'S EYE ICE BEER (Minnesota/St. Paul, MN) Using the same basic design, we now have an Ice Beer from this brewer. The background color is blue. (GW=6) (AM-NA) 16210S

33. PIG'S EYE NA MALT BEVERAGE (Minnesota/St. Paul, MN) Like the can above, this can uses red around the design and has "Non-Alcoholic" on the spinneck. (GW=0) (AM-NA) S16240

POINT SPECIAL PREMIUM LAGER BEER (Stevens Point/Stevens Point,WI) Last shown in the Aug 94 issue, this can has a different canning company. Can does not have "Union Made" to the left of the UPC (see following can). (GW=5) (Ball) 16109S

POINT SPECIAL PREMIUM LAGER BEER (Stevens Point/Stevens Point, WI) Same as can shown above, but with the words "Union Made" to the left of the UPC. (GW=5) (Ball) 16110S

34. RAINIER (MOUNTAIN FRESH) BEER (Rainier-Heileman/Seattle, WA) Another "Limited Edition" type can, this time from the Northwest and Rainier. This 16oz can has a back panel honoring the "Seattle Rainiers" with proceeds going to support the "Cancer Research Center." (GW=5) (QH350) (AM-NA) 18209S

RED WHITE & BLUE (Heileman/La Crosse, WI) Another of the Argentina topped cans. Again the colors, design and Heileman numbers remain the same. (GW=7) (QF 591) (AM-NA) S18007

35. RHEINGOLD PREMIUM LIGHT (Heileman-La Crosse/Baltimore, MD) Now using the design like the regular Rheingold shown in the Aug 94 issue. This can uses blue, black, white, and silver and now also has added the word "Premium" before the word "Light." The last Rheingold Light listed was "Extra Light." (GW=5) (QJ 211) (AM-NA) 18060S

36. ROLLING ROCK EXTRA PALE PREMIUM BEER (Latrobe/Latrobe, PA) When Latrobe makes a change, it is usually not too radical, which is the case this time. The metallic green is now slightly lighter in shade, and the wording is now silver rather than the white of the previous issues. The reverse now has a small version of the billboard logo replacing the large "Rolling Rock" name. (GW=6) (Ball) 18006S

ROLLING ROCK EXTRA PALE PREMIUM BEER (Latrobe/Latrobe, PA) The 16oz version of the above can. (GW=6) (Ball) 18007S

37. SCHMIDT'S ICE BEER (Heileman/La Crosse, WI) The newest addition to the "Iced" beer wars. This nicely designed can comes from Schmidt's and is of course blue, black, silver, and white. The white wolf in front of the black outlined trees makes this a very attractive can in my opinion. It is my PICK OF THE ISSUE. (GW=6) (QH 250) (Crown) 19080S

SCHMIDT'S ICE BEER (Heileman/La Crosse, WI) Same as the above can with the exception of canning company. (GW=6) (QH 250) (AM=NA) 19081S

STAG LIGHT BEER (Heileman/La Crosse, WI) Shown last in the June 94 issue, this brand has now changed the side panel to show "110 calories" and "7.2 carbohydrates." Before it read "115 calories" and "7.5 carbohydrates" with a Heileman number of one less. (GW=3) (QF 692) (Crown) 19727S

38. STONEY'S LIGHT BEER (Jones, Smithton, PA) Lots of little changes on this can but the most noticeable is the "Racing Series #1" and the racing flags located above and below the label. What it does not mention is which race, car, series, driver, etc., although we heard that it was going to be a series and it might consist of only one can a year. Maybe we will find out in '95. Standard colors—red, white, black, gold, and silver. (GW=9)(Ball) 19052S

39. YUENGLING PREMIUM BEER (Yuengling/Pottsville, PA) A special issue honoring the "Pottsville Fire Dept." for their "40th Annual Convention." The can also lists the names of the eight Fire Companies of Pottsville, PA., but leaves off the fact that the companies are in Pennsylvania, which seems to be a growing trend of not listing the states of origin. This is also the first can that I have listed showing the "..... over 165 years of brewing..." that appears on all Yuengling cans. (GW=3) (Ball) 25013S

YUENGLING PREMIUM BEER (Yuengling/Pottsville, PA) Regular 12oz issue now listing the "165 years" wording. (GW=3) (Ball) 25014S

YUENGLING PREMIUM BEER (Yuengling/Pottsville, PA) Regular 16oz issue with the "165 years" wording. (GW=3) (Ball) 25015S

YUENGLING PREMIUM LIGHT BEER (Yuengling/Pottsville, PA) Regular issue now listing the "165 years" wording. (GW=3) (Ball) 25057S

YUENGLING TRADITIONAL LAGER (Yuengling/Pottsville, PA) Regular issue now listing the "165 years" wording. (GW=3) (Ball) 25103S

40. THAT'S MY BEER (Unknown - Huber Can Made in Germany) What we have here is a beer can, but no brewer, as it was made for home brewers. This light blue, fading to a dark blue, 5-liter gallon can also uses black, silver, and white. Near the top are the words "Party - Barbeque - Party - Picnic." Another interesting thing is that it has a 7-line government warning. (GW=7) (Huber) xxxx1S

Said Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines,
"I feed my horse on oats and beans,
On Oats and Beans I feed my horse,
But I feed myself on Western Brew, of course."

This calendar offers a most interesting historical look at the breweries of the state of Iowa from the mid-19th century through today. Many of the illustrations are in full color and show such breweriana as old labels, early brewery postcards, advertisements from long-defunct breweries, and letterheads dating back to 1877. The Pointer labels are especially noteworthy as they appear to be a precursor to those now used by the Stevens Point Brewery. Entries in the calendar include notes on historical development of the Iowa brewing industry, and the note for the third week of July reads, "In 1892 enough beer was sold in Sioux City so that every man, woman and child could drink half a gallon of beer — remember Iowa was dry."

What a great way for keeping track of the important days in the life of a beer can collector!

Fair Warning

The following names have been placed on the BCCA Fair Warning list due to complaints received by BCCA members:

Terentiev Stanislaw (non-member)
John Stryker #27533 (former BCCA member)

Publication of a name on the Fair Warning list merely indicates that a complaint has been received with respect to that person. The BCCA makes no representation or determination as to the truth of any complaint. If your name appears on the list you are urged to contact the Fair Warning chairman immediately.

A name remains on the list until all trades are completed or all complaints are satisfactorily resolved, or until the next roster is printed without the collector.

Dumpers Almanac

BY JOHN KOTTEMANN #20507

Here's a dumping tale told by a veteran Adirondack dumper, Charlie Bacan #8941. I've never been can hunting in upstate New York, and this tale reminds me of what I've been missing. Take it away, Charlie.

After an absence of three years, my wife and I headed back to the Adirondacks for a two-week vacation. We found a nice rental cabin located directly on the north shore of Raquette Lake. Two days into vacation on my first dumping trip of the week, I spotted what appeared to be an old road heading north off the paved road out of nearby Long Lake. Walking the area confirmed that this was the remains of a logging area from 40 years ago. It's all but invisible from the road, summer or winter.

Piled on a gentle slope was a dump. It was shallow but the preservation was adequate. I dug out the expected brands - Utica Club (BCU 124/33,34), Genesee Lager (71/33), Knickerbocker (114/01), Pabst (103/33) and Ballantine (45/39). Finally I found one can for the shelf, a Ruppert like BCU 113/33, but without the word "Knickerbocker" at the top of the oval. It was a can I'd been seriously hunting for years. Fifty yards down the road I found a substantial depression formed by rocks that was completely invisible from the road. Inside the depression was a dump, this time with depth. I dug and found more of the same brands as on the hillside, only better preserved. This dump yielded a few Red Cap (109/32), Carlings (55/16,17), Utica Club (124/28 non-IRTP), Brooklyn Schlitz (114/40, 115/01) and Hanley (79/23). As a bonus I dug up two embossed Garrett's Virginia Dare quart wine bottles.

Down the paved road by Forked Lake was a state campground established in 1933-35. I hiked into the woods near the campground. Aha! There was a substantial dump and it was deep. This dump was in Genesee country. I dug that evening and the next day and loaded up on a few more cases of cans — all flats. The predominant can was Genesee (71/33), but there were 12 Horse Ales (non IRTP), quite a lot of Utica Club, some Red Caps and Carlings.

Late in the second week of vacation I took an early morning ride down the road to look around a nearby gravel pit. I drove beyond the gravel pit and spotted an extremely obvious roadside pulloff. I've never found anything worthwhile before on an Adirondack pulloff, but this was a different story — a huge dump.

Starting at the bottom of the hill and digging toward the top, many different brands popped out. The usual were there - some very clean A few "exotic" cans surfaced as well — Stegmaier's (35/10), Tam O'Shanter Ale (35/25), Carlings (21/03), Schmidt's Ale (34/23), Old Vienna (Bible 3201), and IRTP Piels (Bible 2251). In two days of digging I put several cases of clean cans in boxes to take home.

Having satisfied any desire to search for dumps by automobile, I turned my attention to finding dumps by canoe. Raquette Lake had been heavily used as a summer playground since the mid 1800s. But the fact remained only about 10 miles of shoreline were accessible by road. The rest could only be reached by boat. Isolated campgrounds on the lake shore do not have garbage service. Thus, I spent several days in the canoe, wind permitting, exploring all of Raquette Lake. I explored several good looking areas — old campgrounds, modern lean-to's, and abandoned cabins, with little success. I took the canoe out for one last spin just to visit a site known as Quaker Beach across the lake. On landing, I walked 20 yards inland from the beach and stuck my rake in a suspicious looking pile. Out popped a Rams Head instructional, nasty but readable. I took this to be a good omen, so I started digging. The pile was a mix of bottles, tins, jars, with a few beer cans thrown in as teasers. I kept digging and suddenly, I was digging in an enormous pile of pre-war beer cans. These people were neat! All the kitchen trash went into the first pile, all the beer cans went into a separate pile. As it turned out, they didn't like local brands or ales either.

I dug for two hours until I was exhausted and daylight gave out. What I found was a large pile of pre-war cans, some in excellent shape. Brands included Rams Head (109/16 and matching quart cone), Valley Forge (125/04), Pabst (103/28,29), Manhattan Old Gold (100/28), low profile Piels (32/05), Budweiser (51/31), Krueger (88/33), and metallic Old Dutch (99/28). Of course, not expecting a big find, I had only one small box, so I made trip after trip to the canoe, literally filling it with cans. At the dump site, I replaced rejected cans and bottles in the holes and covered everything with brush and leaves.

How to conclude? First, the dumps are still out there. I found four large dumps in a two-week period. All yielded some nice condition cans. Next, you don't have to travel far. Every dumpsite I found was within nine miles of our camp, by road or water. And finally, avoid the roads and paved places. You have to get out of your car, walk the roadside and when in the Adirondacks, get into your boat and go to where the really good dumps are — on the water!

Thanks for a great story, Charlie. It must have been a wonderful site to see your canoe filled with the likes of Piels cones and Old Gold instructionals. How many other canoe dumpers do we have out there? It seems like portions of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan would have potential, in addition to the northeastern states.

Seems that Herman was out by himself up in the mountains digging in a huge pit of cans. When you get into a huge pit, you end up with a hole that is sometimes seven to eight feet down. This was one of those pits - Herman was way down inside it and had been throwing cans and other junk up out of the pit and it would roll down a small hill and into a dry creek bed. This seemed to work well because it meant that he

Looking for something new under the sun? Get your hands on the latest in beer can technology by picking up the Coors Light Sun Cans. As a special promotion which ran from July 11 to August 15, Coors shipped 28 million special cans which were produced with a new ultraviolet sensitive ink.

The process, developed by Xytronyx Inc. of Colorado, allows the printing of special images on the cans on a background of silver. After the can is chilled, and then exposed to direct sunlight, the printed image will appear within 90 seconds. When the can is removed from the sunlight, the image disappears. The special cans were placed at random in 12-packs. (Look for a yellow question mark at the bottom right of the package, which indicates there are sun cans in the 12-pack). The images are a pair of sunglasses, a face with headphones, a snorkel with a fish, and a tourist shirt with a camera hanging in front of the shirt. These cans will certainly place a burden on the collector....in order to show off the cans, they have to be kept in the refrigerator and then only show them to friends on sunny days! But think of the advertising possibilities...anything from "Don't Drink and Drive," "Visit the State Fair in August," "Merry Christmas" to "See Rock City" could be printed on the cans.

Anheuser-Busch announced that it has signed agreements with brewers in four Latin American countries to distribute their Budweiser brand. The countries are Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala and Honduras.

If you are into New England posters, T-shirts, microbreweries and brewpubs, the White Mountain Graphics Co. has produced a really neat design of New England's best brewers. For information, call 1-800-548-8009. The design is available in poster form, T-shirts or as a jigsaw puzzle.

If you're into owning brewery stock, check out the new listing for Rock Bottom Restaurants Inc. They went public and are listed on the NASDAQ market. In addition, the Mendocino Brewing Co. is planning a public offering of their stock. You can contact them for a prospectus. A new venture called the Mile High Brewing Company is advertising for investors for their upcoming public offering of stock. They can be reached at 1-800-979-2739.

Charleston, West Virginia, finally has their own brewery, with the opening of the Cardinal Brewing Company. Their New River Ale was placed on the market July 15.

CAMRA, the British group which is titled the Campaign for Real Ale voted this year's winning brand Timothy Taylor Landlord. They also have coined a new term in the brewing industry. Describing"Real Ale" as a beer, ale or stout that continues to ferment in the cask or bottle, they refer to beers which have finished their fermentation at the brewery as "Fake Ale." This term then would apply to probably 99% of beer consumed in the United States!

didn't have to waste a lot of time trying to find someplace around the sides of the hole to stack the stuff.

Herman had been down there digging out cans, tossing them blindly up and out of the pit, when suddenly one dropped back down and hit him on the head. He didn't think twice about it, and continued pulling out stuff and tossing it up and out. But it kept coming back down on him.

By this time, he began thinking, "What the h___?" He looked up at the opening of the pit to find a bear staring down at him! Fortunately Herman is small and could slink down into the very bottom of the pit. The bear stared at him a good three or four minutes before her cubs distracted her and she took off.

Needless to say, Herman waited a few more minutes before popping his head up out of the pit in time to see the bear leaving with her cubs. It hadn't taken him long to realize that the bear had become curious as to what was flying out of the ground, and she walked up to take a look, only to get pummeled in the head by flying trash. Imagine throwing beer cans at a bear? Not a great idea!

SUDSY SHAKEDOWN

In the Jan/Feb1985 issue of the BCCA News Report, I presented an article about the Princeton University reunion cans. Since then, quite a number of other Princeton varieties have surfaced and will be the basis of a future article. For the present, however, this article presents other college reunion cans. You'll note that many of the cans are from independent schools in the northeastern part of the USA. Traditionally, northeastern private schools, particularly those in the athletic conference known as the "Ivy League" have always made a big deal out of reunions.

Unlike a state university, these private schools depend upon private donations to keep running. They can't tap a state legislature for funds; they need to tap into alumni ties in order to raise funds so they can continue to offer the caliber of education for which they are famous. They really go out of their way to get the old grads back on campus and open their checkbooks!

So, let's see what schools other than Princeton have offered free reunion beer in cans as part of a sudsy financial shake-down!

COLGATE UNIVERSITY Hamilton NY

This originally all male school, now co-ed, has only two cans that I know of. The 1960 can was a 12oz and filled with Utica Club and Genny. The 1973 reunion can was filled with Schlitz andwas a 16oz size. Cans are maroon on white.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY Ithaca NY

"Far above Cayuga's waters," Cornell is one of the Ivy League's larger universities, but one of the smaller undergraduate colleges since technically only the couple thousand students in the school of arts and sciences are "Ivy Leaguers." The hotel school, med school, etc. aren't supposed to count! Cornell had lots of reunion cans, all red/white, alas with rather dull graphics!

The earlier reunion cans were filled with Ballantine and were 16oz cans. "Alumni Reunion" cans were issued in 1963, 1964, 1965, 1966 (I don't have this one, but there must have been one), and 1967. The 1965 can commemorated the Cornell Centennial, 1865-1965. In 1963, Cornell issued a special "Senior Weekend" can, also 16oz and also filled with Ballantine. I have nothing else until 1970.

In the 70s, Cornell issued six consecutive years (1970, 1971, 1972, 1973, 1974 and 1975) of 12oz "Class Reunion" cans, all filled with Genesee.

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE Hanover NH

Perhaps the oldest reunion can is the Dartmouth "Class of 1929 - 10th Reunion" can issued in 1939. No brand of beer was identified in this 12 oz can. Another can was issued for the class of 1929, for their 20th reunion in 1949 (not pictured). It was also a 12oz with no brand of beer identified. The next reunion can was issued for the Class of '46 for their 25th reunion in 1971. This 12oz can was filled with Carling Black Label.

Many smaller schools adopted the so-called "Dartmouth Plan" of grouping reunion classes among students who would have run into each other as under grads. The 20th reunion for the Classes of '31, '32, '33 is an example of reunion groupings. This was a 12oz can with no brand of beer identified. All the Dartmouth cans were white/green. The Class of '46 can had red acents.

GEORGIA TECH Atlanta GA

Their one can was made for their perennial classic against Georgia. Yellow Jacket Brew/To Hell with Georgia! This 12oz can was issued circa. 1962. This can is white with yellow and black printing.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY Cambridge MA

(A pretty decent school for wimps. Spike Lee is one of their more prominent recent grads!) Six 25th reunion cans were issued for the classes of '41 (1966), '43 (1968), '44 (1969), '45 (1970), '49 (1974) and '50 (1975). All were filled with Carling and all cans were 12oz. Cans '41 through '45 were steel, and '49 and '50 were aluminum. All cans were red and yellow-gold ink on white.

PURDUE UNIVERSITY West Lafayette IN

Often ignored by those Hoosiers following Notre Dame football and Indiana basketball and swimming, Purdue hangs in there as one of the nation's more respectable colleges. They also had at least two great Blatz reunion cans. The first can was for the Class of '28 and the second one was for the Class of '37. Both used 12oz cans containing Blatz Beer.

UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA
Philadelphia PA

Famous for its graduate Wharton School of Business, this school issued one reunion can featuring a Quaker with a mug of beer. The 16oz can, white/brown, was filled with Schmidt, and issued circa. 1964.

STEVENS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY
Hoboken NJ

A small, high quality engineering school on the bank of the Hudson River. There is only one reunion can that I know of done for the Class of 1925 for their 50th reunion in 1975. It's a 12oz can with no brand of beer identified, and is white with red ink.

VASSAR COLLEGE
Poughkeepsie NY

One of America's finest women's colleges, co-ed since 1968, founded by a brewer -- Matthew Vassar. For a women's college, they have a remarkable run of drinking songs about Matthew Vassar's products. One line of their alma mater goes "...For well we know that all we owe to Matthew Vassar's Ale!" Despite this brewery history, they have only one reunion can. (It just so happened that my mother was reunion chairman that year!!!!) The can commemorates the 50th reunion of the Class of '37 (1987) with a 12oz paper label over Genny Ale and Miller Genuine Draft cans. The label, in black and white, has a silhouette of Matthew Vassar.

SKIDMORE COLLEGE
Saratoga Springs NY

The second of the two "girls schools" in the list, now co-ed. (It is perhaps not coincidental that in 1982, the year of their one can, my aunt had her 35th reunion, and my cousin was in charge of homecoming!!!) The can, issued in 1982, featured Skidmore Homecoming and the Cheering Geeks. It was a 12oz aluminum can with red and yellow on white.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE
Williamstown MA

Williams is one of the "little three" -- the others being Amherst and Wesleyan. It's a fine old school with one faculty member for each four students. For some reason even they don't remember, their mascot is the Purple Cow. There are two cans I know of and each is rare. Both are gold cans with purple and white printing.

Williams Purple Cow Lager commemorates the Class of 1936, is a 12oz can and is filled with Narragansett. Three years later another Purple Cow can was issued for the Class of 1939, also a 12oz can, filled this time with Fitzgerald beer.

UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN Ann Arbor MI
OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY Columbus OH

The University of Michigan is one of the earliest founded midwestern schools, and one of the best, both academically and athletically. Both this can and the Ohio State can almost always appear in pairs. I suspect that, rather than reunion cans, they were made for either a homecoming game or a Big Ten championship. (Perhaps one of our flatlander members can straighten it out.) Both the Michigan Wolverines and the Ohio State Buckeyes are 12oz drawn steel cans. The Michigan can is dark blue/yellow, and the Ohio can is red/white.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY
New York NY

Columbia University issued a reunion can, which I know I have, but can't find since I moved!

Colt 45 Lone Star Cans

Lone Star had some kind of an agreement with the National Brewing Co. to brew and market Colt 45 Malt Liquor. During the summer of 1965, I toured the Lone Star Brewery in Oklahoma City while on a field trip for microbiology class during my pharmacy school education, and I distinctly remember that the brewery was canning Colt 45 Malt Liquor at that time. I know of five cans that exist; two 12oz. and three 16oz. cans. All five cans are the standard two sided white can with Colt 45 in blue, Malt Liquor in red, a red colt in a gold horseshoe with BY NATIONAL in gold at the bottom of one can side only.

One of the five cans is a 12oz flat that is very rare. It has copyright "The National Brewing Co. • Contents 12 Fl. Ozs." in blue up along the left side of the seam and "Brewed and Filled by Lone Star Brewing Co. for the National Brewing Co. • Oklahoma City, Okla. NB-404" in blue up along the right side of the seam.

The second can is a 12oz.tab, quite rare, and exactly like the flat, but a ring pull tab.

The third can, also rare, is a 16oz. zip top with "By National" in red at the bottom of one side only. Along the left of the seam is "copyright The National Brewing Co. " in pale gold and "16 FL. OZS. • One Pint" in blue along the top left of the seam. At the right of the seam is "Brewed and Filled by Lone Star Brewing Co. Oklahoma City, Okla. • Also San Antonio, Texas."

The fourth and fifth cans, also 16oz., are ring pull tabs and have slight variations to the wording by the seams. All the cans are straight steel cans.

Old England Brand Lager Beer

Old England Brand Lager Beer was issued by the Old England Brewing Co., Derby, Connecticut in the late 1930s. This cone has a wide vertical Cap Sealed panel on the reverse indicating its date of production to be circa. 1938-39. It is the fourth in a series of ale and beer cones issued by this brewery. The companion cones are BCU #30-22, Class #11-5 and BCU #30-23. For some unexplained reason the word "Brand" was added to the two later cones.

Malt Liquor

This 12oz. 2-faced flat top (BCU #91-28) from the Geo. Muehlebach Brewing Co. , Kansas City, MO, rarely appears in a can collection, let alone in grade 1 to mint condition. Like its look-alike, Muehlebach Pilsener conetop (BCU #29-27), the white and gold paint is thin and easily spots and chips.

This can, issued in 1956-57, was presumably Muehlebach's attempt to enter the malt liquor market. Because the brand name had little prominence on the front of the can, and with the absence of the logo, it is assumed the brewery did not want association with the brand in case of failure. This brand, as well as Muehlebach Pilsener, died with the sale of the brewery in 1957 to the Schlitz Brewing Co.

Schlitz Reverse on Glass

This "gem" was a recent Kansas City flea market find, which proves there are still a few goodies out there to be found! It is believed this sign is from the 1890s and one of only a few still in existence. It is 21-½" in diamater with a pressed zinc frame over a wood base, inset with colored stained glass jewels. The sign itself is a convex glass 'bubble" reverse acid etched and painted with gold and silver leaf highlights. The colors are extremely bright and showy, typical of the era.

Arizona Brewing Company

These Arizona Brewing Company calendar postcards for ElderBrau were a great find from a Phoenix antique show.

They were probably sent to dealers to get them to stock the brewery's beers. They each measure 4-¾ x 10." These two have a fishing theme, with the back of the postcard side saying "If you're angling for more beer business, hook up with Elderbrau - Your friend for life." The calendars are from September 1940 (left) and February 1941 (right). Slogans on the postcards' front are "Nice to hook up with" and "Easy on the eyes." Both mention Dutch Treat Beer and Apache Beer in addition to ElderBrau. ElderBrau advertising (including Dutch Treat and Apache together) is virtually unknown to exist.

Burgermeister

This is a 1953 magazine ad promoting Burgermeister Pale Beer and a radio show featuring the San Francisco 49er's fullback, Joe Perry. The show, "Both Sides of the Record" aired on KWBR radio in Oakland, California in the early 50s. The ad measures 10" x 14" in size, and is a great sports/beer piece.

Kent Ale

From the November 30, 1935 issue of the New Yorker comes this ad for Kent Ale by G. Krueger Brewing Co. The ad proudly states that the Krueger Brewing Company was the "first brewer to give you beer and ale in Keglined Cans." Kent Ale was the third brand Kreuger put in a can following Kreuger Beer and Ale.

EAST MEETS WEST

On a trip to Prague recently, Jeff Lebo had the unique opportunity to call on a fellow BCCA member who lives there. Zdenek Sekava was quite surprised when he picked up the telephone and on the other end of the line was a beer can collecting American who wanted to meet him — and trade beer cans too!

The next day Jeff and Zdenek met and went on a driving tour of Prague. Zdenek invited Jeff to his home where he showed off his amazing 7000+ can collection. He even gave Jeff some of his traders to take home. Back home, Jeff sent a few boxes of cans to Zdenek for his collection.

In the words of Jeff, "Not only did we help one another's collections, but we both found a new friend. Thanks again Zdenek for your generosity and kind hospitality! I hope we can meet again someday."

VART OI

That's the title of a publication I've been receiving for a few years now. A very frustrating publication to say the least. Mainly 'cause it's written in Norwegian! You see, back in '91, before the Canvention, my wife Janet and I were in Specs' Bar in San Fran and we got into a conversation with Trygve Nielsen, a representative from the Aass Brewery. Lo and behold, Trygve remembered me and I soon began receiving copies of the Aass magazine, "Vart OI." Which is all well and good, but I'd love to know what they're all about. A recent article titled "Nei til Spritfylla!" looked really interesting.

Well maybe there's a solution to my dilemma. In our last issue, Dennis Gordon offered to translate foreign beer publications. Better brush up on your Norwegian, Dennis. I got some Vart OIs for ya!

A STAR IS BORN

So there was Steve Pawlowski, watching a TV documentary on Frank Lloyd Wright's famous architectural masterpiece, "Falling Water." And suddenly Steve spied a familiar face. Luckily he had taped the show. A quick rewind and, sure enough, in a group of three architects, there was Will Hartlep! On the tube! No wonder he gave up his column. Of course they didn't identify him, and he had no dialog, but it's a start in show biz. It's just a matter of time before we see Will's name in lights (neon, of course).

BEER CAN CHICKEN

No that's not a cowardly BCCA member. It's the name of a barbecued chicken recipe in a recent Washington Post that caught Bruce Remick's eye. The key ingredient is a full can of beer (opened of course) stuffed into the cavity of the chicken. The recipe used Budweiser, but any brand will do. Bruce thought we could take suggestions for appropriate brands. He made the first couple: Bird's Brew and Hynne (I LIKE that one!). How 'bout it folks, give me some ideas.

BARDO RODEO

On our way to the Blue-Gray in February, Pawlowski and I stopped at a few brewpubs, one of which was Bardo Rodeo in Arlington, VA. We've been in a hundred or so brewpubs, and as far as we're concerned, most of them seem to have been stamped out of the same mold. Not so, Bardo.

Housed in a former Oldsmobile dealership, that's exactly what you think the joint is. There's none of that typical squeeky-clean blond wood in the interior. Instead, row upon row of tables sit in the cavernous former garage. The former showroom is the new barroom, and that's dominated by the front end of a car protruding through the wall. Bardo features about 3 dozen draft beers, and 10 or so house varieties. The rest range from other micros to imports to nationals. If you're ever in the D.C. area, believe me, Bardo is definitely worth a visit.

A banner in the window proclaims "Bardo Rodeo" but with no indication it's a bar or brewery!

ODDS AND ENDS

Why is it that on page 2 of this magazine in the columnist listings, my column is the only one out of alphabetical order. Are they saving the best for last? Nah. Is it, like, I'm one misstep from falling over the cliff? Hummmm.

(Editor's note: Ooops, guess I don't know my V's from my W's, although somehow it seems fitting that "View" is the final listing of the magazine columnists! But, I'll get it corrected for the next issue.)

Here's another odd-ball collection that two BCCA'ers have in common besides beer cans -- enameled measuring glasses. Both Roy Rogalski and Marcia Butterbaugh collect them. Roy has nearly 200 varieties, with brands like General Electric and Frigidaire having the most variations. Mostly they were made for department stores, grocery and drug stores, ice cream and dairy products, and cooking products. Marcia's favorites are Piggly Wiggly, Katz Drug Store (the same people that produced Katz Beer) and a glass for Gibson Appliances. (Roy & Marcia plan to do some glass trading at the canvention.)

PLAYBOY CHAPTER NEWS

Richard J. La Susa #609 Editor Summer, 1994

WE'RE HEADED FOR NASHVILLE

You can almost hear the twangy guitars and heart-tugging lyrics.

We're heading to Nashville, folks. Music City. The gateway to the Southland.

It's Canvention time again-the 23rd straight for Playboy Chapter members. And as usual, we'll have an annual gathering of the Playboy flock. Nothing as exotic as the luncheon in New Orleans last year. It will be in a room which has been reserved for us at the Stouffer Nashville Hotel, Canvention headquarters.

The meeting is set for 4 to 6 p.m. Thursday (Sept. 8) in room 111. If you have any questions, I'll be registered in the Stouffer Wednesday. Give me a call or, better yet, stop by my room and share a cold beer.

We'll have a kinda down home get together: A short meeting, election of "new" officers, some snacks and beverages of choice (which we will have to provide on our own. Please bring something tasty and refreshing to share with other Playboy members)-and lots of laughs.

We'll probably want to discuss what we want to do to celebrate our 25th anniversary. Give some thought as to how we want to mark this special occasion. A luncheon or dinner seems to be in order. We'll need a volunteer to coordinate the anniversary meeting, as we did for our 20th.

We're really looking forward to Canvention. After only attending three trade sessions this summer (spent a lot of time in southwestern Colorado relaxing, mountain biking in real mountains, hiking and visiting microbreweries and brew pubs) and the great Northwoods (fishing, mountain biking in make-believe mountains, hiking and drinking beer) it will be good to visit with other collectors.

I did see Arnie Schmidt and Rollo Carlson at Brewmasters in Kenosha Aug. 28 and Keith Jennerjohn at two other trade sessions. I also received a very nice letter from Dick Adamowicz (who always seems to write a nice letter and has something to say). I hope all Playboy members voted for Dick for the BCCA's Hall of Fame. He certainly deserves that honor.

I don't believe Dick will mind if I share a little of his letter with our members:

"Won't be long now and we will all be together in Nashville...Hard to believe this will be #23 for all of us. Seems like only yesterday we were all rookies at Lake Geneva and in awe at all those cans...[and] the many parking lot trades that went on, some thing you don't see at today's Canventions. Back then everyone was truly there looking for cans to add to their collections. I wonder how many of the Playboy members still go to the Canventions looking to add more cans to their collections? I bet not many. Most of us go for the good times and to see old friends we've made through the many years in the hobby. Twenty three years of fond memories I wouldn't trade for anything."

Nor would any of our members, Dick. I'm an active person in many diverse fields of interest, but it's safe to say that within our hobby-particularly among the membership of the BCCA-that I have met the nicest, warmest and most generous people. And not one new can-or a difference of opinion-is worth losing any of those friendships. As I said, Dick has a good feel for this hobby and expresses his views well.

His mood is considerably more upbeat than some of the collectors I have talked with during the past year. The subject also seems to be: What are we getting out of the hobby? (Or even: What's in it for me?). Pleasure is what many seek, and some don't even come close attaining it.

And then you think back to what pleasure meant to you in the early years of our hobby: The pleasure of acquiring a new beer can or of discovering a can or breweriana piece that you didn't even know existed from your favorite brewery. Or the pleasure of making a friendship, and to renewing and strengthening that friendship at trade sessions or at Canvention.

Unfortunately, for some in our hobby pleasure now means: How much of a profit can a make if I can get a certain can or piece of breweriana? or How can I get in and out of show a quickly as possible, without even visiting with old acquaintances?, not even taking the time to say hi. Some believe: "If I don't see anything I need, I'll get in and out of the trade session real quick. Why waste my time?"

Indeed, why waste your time? Have we become that jaded, that disinterested in what made this hobby great? Is there really no pleasure or fun to be had? Hopefully, Dick's assessment is accurate-that there are good times to be had and friendships to be renewed. Look at the photos from last year's Canvention in New Orleans (you have to look closely, as the reproduction isn't too good) and you can see the smiles on a lot of faces, the pleasure of being among friends.

So, if you don't find a new can for your collection-or aren't even interested in finding one-take the time to visit with other members at Canvention. We aren't going to be on this planet forever, folks. So say hi to a BCAAer (even to Ron Moermond). Maybe pick up a new can. But have fun. Nashville will be another great opportunity to do so. Best that we take advantage of it.

Have a safe journey and a most enjoyable Canvention.
